For Love of Country

"Did you have a pleasant ride up the river, Katharine?" asked her father.

"Very, sir," she answered, blushing violently and looking involuntarily at Seymour, who matched her blush with his own.

There was a painful pause, which Seymour broke, coming to the rescue with a counter question.

"Did you notice that small sloop creeping up under the west bank of the river, colonel, this evening? I should think she must be opposite the house now, if the wind has held."

"Why, when did you see her, Mr. Seymour? I thought you were looking at—"

"She broke off in confusion under her father's searching gaze. He smiled and said:

"Ah, Katharine, trained eyes see all things unusual about them, although they are apparently bent persistently upon one spot. Yes, Seymour, I did notice it. If we were farther down the river we might suspect it of being an enemy, but up here I fancy even Dunmore's malevolence would scarcely dare to follow."

Katharine looked up in alarm. "Oh, father, do you think it is quite safe? Chloe told me that Phoebe told her that the raiders had visited Major Lithcomb's plantation, and you know that it is not more than fifty miles down the river from us. Would it not be well to take some precaution?"

"Tut, tut, child! Gossip of the negro servants!" The colonel waved it aside carelessly. "I hardly think we have anything to fear at present, though what his lordship may do in the end unless he is checked I hardly like to imagine."

"But, father," persisted Katharine, "they said that Johnson was in command of the party, and you know he hates you. You remember he said he would get even with you if it cost him his life when you had him turned out of the club at Williamsburg."

"Pshaw, Katharine! That wretch would not dare. It is a cowardly blackguard, Seymour, whom I saw cheating at cards at the Assembly club at the capital. I had him expelled from the society of gentlemen, where, indeed, he had no right of admittance, and I scarcely know how he got there originally. He made some threats against me, to which I naturally paid no attention. But what did you think of the vessel?"

"I confess I saw nothing suspicious about her, sir," replied Seymour. "She seemed very much like the packets which ply on the river. I only spoke idly of the subject."

"But, father, the packet went up last week, the day before you came back, and is due coming down the river now, while this boat is coming up," said Katharine.

"Oh, well, I think we are safe enough now, but to relieve your unusual anxiety I will send Blodgett down to the wharf to examine and report. Blodgett, do you go down to the boat landing and keep watch for an hour or two. Take your musket, man. There is no knowing what you might need it for."

The old soldier, who had stationed himself behind the colonel's chair, said service to the cause, with his name and influence and the money he would bring, and then the quality of the young man himself would be of value to us. You have met him, Seymour, I believe?"

"Yes, sir, several times, and I agree with you entirely. It is his mother who keeps him back. I have had one or two conversations with her. She is a Tory through and through."

"Not a doubt of it, not a doubt of it," said the colonel. "Katharine, can't you do something with him?"

"Oh, father, you know that I have talked with him, pleaded with him and begged him to follow his inclination, but he remains by his mother."

"Nonsense, Katharine! Don't speak of him in that way. Give him time. It is a hard thing. He is her only son; she is a widow. Let us hope that something will induce him to come over to us." He said this in gentle reproach of his spirited daughter, and then:

"Permit me to offer you a glass of wine, Seymour—you are not drinking anything, and to whom shall we drink?"

Seymour, who had been quaffing deep draughts of Katharine's beauty, replied promptly:

"If I might suggest, sir, I should say Mistress Wilton."

"No, no," said Katharine. "Drink, first of all, to the success of our cause. I will give you a toast, gentlemen: Before our sweethearts, our sisters, our wives, our mothers, let us place—our country!" she exclaimed, lifting her own glass.

The colonel laughed as he drank his toast, saying, "Nothing comes before country with Katharine."

And Seymour, while he appreciated the spirit of the maiden, felt a little pang of grief that even to a country he should be second—an astonishing change from that spirit of humility which a moment since contented itself with metaphorically kissing the ground she walked upon.

"By the way, father, where is Philip?" asked Katharine.

"He went up the branch fishing, with Bentley, I believe."

"But isn't it time they returned? Do you know, I feel nervous about them. Suppose those raiders!"

"Pshaw, child! Still harping on the raiders—and nervous too! What ails you, daughter? I thought you never were nervous. We Wiltons are not accustomed to nervousness, you know, and what must our guest think?"

"Nothing but what is altogether agreeable," replied Seymour, a little too promptly, and then, to cover his confusion, he continued: "But I think Miss Wilton need feel under no apprehension. Master Philip is with Bentley, and I would trust the prudence and courage and skill of that man in any situation. You know my father, who was a shipmaster, when he died aboard his ship in the China seas, gave me, a little boy taking a cruise with him, into Bentley's charge, and told him to make a sailor and a man of me, and from that day he has never left me. At my house, in Philadelphia, he is a privileged character. There never was a truer, better, braver man; and as for patriotism, love of country is a passion with him, colonel. He might set an example to many in higher station in that particular."

"Yes, I have noticed that peculiarity about the man. I think Philip is safe enough with him, Katharine, even if those—"

"Halt! What is that?" The colonel sprang to his feet as the sound of a musket shot rang out in the night air, followed by one or two pistol shots and then a muffled cry.

ANARCHY EXISTS

The Situation In Colorado Gold Fields Leads to War.

A HORRIBLE OUTBREAK

A Dozen Non-Union Miners Killed by Deliberate Explosion of an Infernal Machine.

Soldiers Called Out and Many Union Miners Are Killed in a Charge.

Cripple Creek, Col., June 7.—Twelve men were killed by the explosion of an infernal machine at the railroad station in Independence, and seven others were seriously injured. Eleven men were killed outright and one died later from wounds. All the killed and injured with the exception of two men from the Deadwood mine, were non-union miners employed on the night shift of the Findley mine. The men were waiting to board a suburban train on the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad and return to their homes in Cripple Creek and Victor. Just after the engineer of the approaching train blew his whistle as a signal to the miners, according to custom, a terrific explosion occurred underneath the station platform, on and near which twenty-six men were gathered. The platform was blown into splinters, the station was wrecked and a hole twenty feet in circumference and about as many feet in depth was torn in the ground. Fragments of bodies were hurled through space for several hundred feet and later were picked up still quivering.

Some of the bodies dropped into the pit made by the explosion, but heads, hands, ears, legs, arms and trunks were strewn about on all sides. Pieces of flesh were found on buildings 500 feet away and blood-stains everywhere within a radius of fifty feet. A special train was sent from Cripple Creek carrying physicians, nurses, officers and many others, but when it reached Independence the injured had already been placed on board the suburban train and removed to the hospital in Victor. The mangled bodies of the dead, piece together as well as possible, were removed to the coroner's office.

The infernal machine with which the diabolical work was done consisted of a quantity of dynamite, estimated at 100 to 200 pounds, a loaded revolver and a long slender steel wire attached to the trigger. The revolver was fastened so that the pulling of the trigger would not draw it away. The wire ran from under the station to the cribbing of the Delmonico property, about 400 feet away, where its end was fastened to a rung of a chair. The dynamite was placed close to the muzzle of the revolver, which was discharged by pulling the wire when the engineer blew his whistle. The ball from the revolver exploded the dynamite.

A man was seen running down the hill from the Delmonico after the explosion. The Victor troops, who were ordered out by Mayor French, were so stationed as to keep people from passing over the path taken by this man, and blood-hounds were sent from Canyon City and Trinidad for the purpose of trailing the assassin.

The infernal machine was similar to the one exploded in the Victor mine on Nov. 21, 1903, killing two men. Without explanation and with a suddenness that caused great surprise, Sheriff Henry M. Robertson resigned his position and Edward Bell was named to succeed him by the county commissioners. Bell is a member of the Citizens' Alliance. City Marshal O'Connell of Victor has sworn in a large number of special policemen, who are patrolling the streets with shotguns. Many union men have armed themselves and say they will resist with violence any attempt to run them out of town, as is proposed. Detectives have been engaged to shadow the movements of every prominent union leader in the camp. Clarence Hamlin of the Mine Owners' association has arrived at Victor and has taken charge of affairs there. He declared this afternoon that the men who are responsible for the Independence outrage should be hanged from a telephone pole, and that he would be only too glad to help pull the rope if the murderers could be discovered and captured.

A DEADLY VOLLEY

Soldiers at Victor Return the Fire of Strikers.

Denver, June 7.—Adjutant General Bell has been informed by telephone from Victor that an attack was made late yesterday afternoon on miners' union hall by a squad of soldiers. Major Naylor sent guards to aid in quelling the disturbance. When the union hall was fired upon from houses on both sides of the street. They returned the fire and raced on at a double quick until they were near the miners' union hall. At that point the mob scattered and as the soldiers halted several shots were fired at them from the windows of the hall.

The doors of the building had been left open and a dozen guardsmen fired into the hall as fast as they could work their rifles. After a few volleys the order to take the place by assault was given and they jumped in. It was reported to General Bell that a number of men were killed, but none of the guardsmen was injured.

At the headquarters of Adjutant General Bell in this city everything is in readiness to promptly meet a call for additional troops in the gold camp. It is understood that the roads have been instructed to have engines and cars ready and a quick run to Cripple Creek would follow an appeal for more soldiers. However, from the tone of a communication received from Sheriff Bell, the newly appointed officer of Teller county, he will only ask for further aid in the military as a last resort. He intimates that he can control the situation unless a general clash of opposing interests occurs. This outbreak had its inception in the strike of the members of the Western Federation of Miners something over a year ago, when 4,000 men quit work for the purpose of enforcing an eight-hour day. This action so incensed the mine owners that they declared a war on unionism and the breach has grown wider with the passage of time. Much lawlessness has prevailed in the strike-ridden districts and unionists have been brought to trial on numerous charges. They were invariably acquitted, however.

Followed by Fatal Rioting.

Victor, Col., June 7.—Rioting broke out in this city while a mass meeting was being held to discuss the murder of twelve non-union miners by means of an infernal machine at Independence. Forty shots were fired into the crowd in the street. One man was killed and six persons at least injured. R. McGee of Victor, who was instantly killed, had been standing on an embankment thirty feet above the men who had been fighting, and was an innocent spectator.

Moyer Still a Prisoner.

Denver, June 7.—The state supreme court has refused the application for a writ of habeas corpus for Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who is held as a military prisoner at Telluride.

PLATT BROKEN DOWN

Aged Complainant in Blackmail Case Succumbs to Excitement.

New York, June 7.—John R. Platt is lying in bed at his home in East 54th street a complete physical and partial mental wreck. It is said there has been no improvement in his condition since his breakdown on Thursday morning following his narrative of his relations with the negroes, Mrs. Hannah Elias. Mrs. Elias is once again a virtual prisoner in her handsome home, Central Park west, with a heavily reinforced guard of process servers and deputy sheriffs watching every point of possible escape.

tion since his breakdown on Thursday morning following his narrative of his relations with the negroes, Mrs. Hannah Elias. Mrs. Elias is once again a virtual prisoner in her handsome home, Central Park west, with a heavily reinforced guard of process servers and deputy sheriffs watching every point of possible escape.

Strike Situation Improved.

Ironton, Ohio, June 7.—The strike situation at the Rogers Brown company's furnace at Hanging Rock has improved to such an extent that Sheriff Payne asked for the removal of the four companies of the Seventh regiment which were sent to the scene of the trouble last Wednesday. The troops have departed for their respective homes.

Prompted by Jealousy.

Maumee, Ill., June 7.—John Robinson, a fisherman at Maumee, shot and killed his wife, then turned the pistol on his brother-in-law, Shelby Atterbury, a farmer, killing him almost instantly. Robinson then shot himself in the temple. The men had been drinking heavily all day. Jealousy is supposed to have prompted the deed.

Maniac's Shocking Deed.

Roselle, N. J., June 7.—After killing three of his children and wounding a fourth, Joseph M. Pouch, at one time an undertaker, shot himself through the head and died in a few moments. He is believed to have been insane.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Loss by the floods in the Black hills country is estimated at $500,000.

Schriever, Ia., a small town near New Orleans, was entirely wiped out by fire.

It is said that William R. Hearst's interest in the Democracy of Illinois, is now assured.

To defend himself from the assault of enemies, Edward McCormick, Brownsburg, Va., shot and killed John Wade and Arthur Blackwell.

After a 10,000-mile chase, Blanche Ryan, charged with the theft of $5,000 worth of diamonds in Mexico, was caught at Little Rock, Mo.

George F. Phillips, who was engineer of the Merrimac, sunk by Lieut. Hobson and his crew during the Spanish war, is dead at Cambridge, Mass.

Though having only one arm, a tinker of Bologna, has successfully ascended the tower of Asinelli, 350 feet high, by means of the lightning rod.

The whole of the $100,000,000 Russian credit notes is said to have been absorbed by French investors, and the price has now reached a small premium.

Eleven miners were killed and several others injured by the accidental discharge of dynamite under the platform of the railway depot at Independence, Col. As a result the town is under martial law.

BATTLE BEGINS

All Signs Point to the Actual Investment of Port Arthur.

HEAVY FIRING HEARD

The Nearest Cable Point Reports Continual Evidences of Active Bombardment.

Definite News From the beleaguered City Is Shut Off From All Sides.

Che Foo, June 7.—A correspondent at Teng Chow cables that there was firing at Port Arthur last night, beginning at 11:30 o'clock and continuing for several hours. A junk arriving during the night from Dainy reports that there was heavy firing all day yesterday in the vicinity of Port Arthur.

London, June 7.—The correspondent of the Times aboard the steamer Haiman, telegraphing June 6, says: "It is pretty certain from intelligence received by the Japanese secret service that even if the channel of Port Arthur is practicable for large-draught ships, there is not sufficient coal in Port Arthur for such vessels to take the sea. The explosions heard at Port Arthur are believed to have been caused by the demolition of certain government buildings. A portion of the Japanese Second army corps will hold the land approaches to Port Arthur until Tallyway bay shall have been made practicable for a further debarkation. "Meantime a screen of mounted troops is being pushed up beyond Kaping for the purpose of allowing the reconstruction of the railroad to proceed as rapidly as possible."

JAPANESE ADVANCE

Another Army Landing on Eastern Coast of Liao Tung Peninsula.

Liao Yang, June 7.—Military interest is now centered upon the region of imminent operations. The Liao Tung peninsula. Another Japanese army is landing on the eastern coast as a counterweight to the Russian advance from Daxitsiao southward upon General Oku's army.

The Japanese have seemingly given up the idea of attacking Liao Yang if they entertained such a plan. The rainy season, which is expected to begin in two or three weeks, would, it is considered here, render an advance to Liao Yang impossible. Meanwhile the Cossacks are keeping in touch with the Japanese outposts. Another force is watching General Kuroki's right wing north of the Yalu river.

The health of the troops is remarkable everywhere. There are no contagious diseases, and only a few cases of intestinal disorders, but medical authorities do not expect such immunity during the hot weather that is now beginning. The health of the troops is not attributed so much to sanitary precautions as to the simple but excellent diet. The Russians live principally on bread made of coarse flour and soup composed of meal and vegetables. They seldom drink ordinary water, thereby avoiding a principal source of disease.

More Russian Troops.

St. Petersburg, June 7.—It is said that the mobilization of the First army corps belonging to St. Petersburg province will be announced in a few days and that it will be followed by the mobilization of the Fifth and Sixth army corps of the Volga region. Probably a month will elapse before these corps are ready to start. In the meantime the Siberian railroad will be taxed to its utmost capacity in taking out the Tenth and Seventeenth corps now moving.

ILLINOIS FOR HEARST

The Editor Candidate Has His Forces Well in Hand.

Chicago, June 7.—William Randolph Hearst will be endorsed by the Illinois state convention as its candidate for the presidential nomination. That was practically decided at a roundup of Democrats held at the Sherman House. The Chicago people settled the matter. They represented that they had made a practical deal with the Hearst forces at the Democratic primaries in Cook county on May 2, and must stand by the bargain. The others agreed and so there is now practically no opposition to the Hearst endorsement, except such as Mayor Harrison and Congressman Williams may be able to make. That is not regarded as serious. The convention will meet at Springfield on June 21.

A Tremendous Earthquake.

Lima, Peru, June 7.—Tacna and Arica in Chile were shaken by a tremendous earthquake at 1:35 a. m. yesterday. The inhabitants ran into the streets in their nightclothes. The walls of many buildings were cracked and the sea agitated, but so far as reported no person was killed.

Will Be Paid on New Basis.

Washington, June 7.—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow announces that the salaries of the rural free delivery mail carriers will be adjusted on the basis of the number of miles traveled.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and neglect are the cause of untold female suffering, not only with the laws of health but with the chance of a cure. I did not heed the warnings of headaches, organic pains, and general weariness, until I was well nigh prostrated. I knew I had to do something. Happily I did the right thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully, according to directions, and was rewarded in a few weeks to find that my aches and pains disappeared, and I again felt the glow of health through my body. Since I have been well I have been more careful. I have also advised a number of my sick friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am proud, and they have never had reason to be sorry. Yours very truly, MRS. MAY FAIRBANKS, 216 South 7th St., Minneapolis, Minn." (Mrs. Fairbanks is one of the most successful and highest salaried travelling saleswomen in the West.)—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

BLOODY RACE RIOT

Mob in a Territory Town Creates Terror Among Negroes.

Ardmore, I. T., June 7.—Maldall, a town of probably 2,000, was the scene of wild excitement among the colored inhabitants last night when an attempt was made by a mob of between fifteen and twenty white people to drive the negroes out of the town. Hundreds of shots were fired into the homes of the negroes. No one was hurt so far as can be learned with the exception of a member of the mob, who was slightly wounded by a shot fired, it is said, by Mrs. W. E. Bonner, a colored woman, in defense of her home. This angered the crowd and they attempted to break into her home, but she pluckily stood her ground. The mob visited nearly every house in the colored settlement and fired shots into the houses. The occupants, terror-stricken, lay on the floor and escaped the fusillades. Men in the mob warned the negroes to leave town or suffer death.

It is a great affliction for a woman to have her face disfigured by pimples or any form of eruptive disease. It makes her morbid and sensitive, and robs her of social enjoyment. Disfiguring eruptions are caused by impure blood, and are entirely cured by the great blood-purifying medicine—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It removes from the blood the poisonous impurities which cause disease. It perfectly and permanently cures scrofulous sores, eczema, tetters, boils, pimples and other eruptive diseases which are caused by the blood's impurity. It increases the action of the blood-making glands and thus increases the supply of pure rich blood.

"For about one year and a half my face was very badly broken out," writes Miss Carrie Adams, of 116 West Main Street, Baltimore, Md. "I spent a great deal of money with doctors and for different kinds of medicine, but received no benefit. At last I read one of your advertisements in a paper, and obtained a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Before I had taken one bottle of this medicine I noticed a change, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured. I can well recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to any one similarly afflicted."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps for expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HEED THIS LAW.

The legislature of 1903 passed a law regulating the dumping of garbage in public highways and in streets and alleys that every citizen of Indiana should heed. This law reads:

"That whoever puts, throws, dumps or leaves any tin cans, old iron, brush, boxes, machinery, rubbish, debris of any kind or character whatsoever in, upon or within the limits of any public highway, road, street or alley is guilty of an unlawful act, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not to exceed fifty dollars."

This is accepted generally as a good law and one that should be obeyed willingly. But if it is not it should be enforced by the proper authorities. Public thoroughfares should never be made a dumping ground for old rubbish. They were not made for that purpose.

THE state of Oregon held an election Monday which resulted in an overwhelming republican victory. The majority in the state will probably reach 20,000. This is a pretty good indication of what the Pacific slope will do next fall.

THE riots in Colorado, resulting in numerous deaths, are causing alarm throughout that state. The whole Cripple Creek mining district is practically under martial law. These riots have already cost Colorado about $1,000,000 and the end is not yet.

Political Gossip.

The republicans of the Crothersville precinct held a meeting Monday to receive the resignation of Elisha Grimes as precinct committeeman and to elect his successor. Dr. A. May presided and G. W. Bard acted as secretary. Mr. Grimes is moving to Bedford which made it necessary for him to resign. Morton Cartwright was elected as his successor on the committee.

Senator Fremont Goodwire, of Williamsport, who was one of the leading republicans in the state senate the past two sessions, has been re-nominated.

L. Ert Slack, who wanted to run for Congress, but was put out of the race by the Dixon-Griffith-O'Brien combination, has been nominated for joint senator by the democrats of Johnson and Shelby counties.

AN EXCELLENT RECORD

Attorney General Miller Has Rendered State Valuable Services.

Charles W. Miller, the present attorney general, and who was nominated for a second term, was born in Floyd county, Indiana, February 4, 1863, the son of Jacob B. and Isabelle Miller, both natives of Floyd county. Mr. Miller was born and reared on a farm; he attended the common schools of his native county, a private school at Paoli, the normal school at Ladoga, Indiana, and the Michigan University. In June, 1887, he was married to Sarah Elizabeth Perkins, of Goshen. He began the practice of law in Goshen, Ind., where he continued to practice until his election to the office of attorney general.

He has taken an active interest in political affairs from boyhood; he was elected mayor of Goshen before he was twenty-four years of age; was a delegate to the national Republican convention in 1892; served as chairman of his county central committee, and served as a member of the advisory board of the state central committee. As a business man he has also been successful, being president of the state bank of Goshen; president of the Elk-hart county loan and trust company, of Goshen; president of two local telephone companies and secretary of Lesh, Prouty & Abbott company, of East Chicago, manufacturers of walnut lumber.

Mr. Miller, before entering upon his duties as attorney general, was one of the best known lawyers in northern Indiana, having a large practice, which extended throughout the northern tier of counties of the state, where he met, in great legal contests, the strongest lawyers of this state, Chicago, and New York, and always acquitted himself in a manner creditable to himself. Absolute fearlessness, frankness and untiring energy are his predominant qualities, and in the performance of the duties of attorney general these qualities have characterized his work in a marked degree.

In less than a year and a half of his term he has secured a decision from the United States supreme court sustaining the validity of the mortgage deduction law; also one from the same court affirming the right of the state to concurrent jurisdiction over the Ohio river.

He secured opinions from the supreme and appellate courts of this state condemning the alley saloon and the subterfuge of flimsy partitions in drinking places.

He has vigorously assailed and forced out of business fake home and building schemes and fraudulent trust and insurance companies, and at all times has faithfully and carefully guarded the interests of the state in contracts entered into by the different institutions and departments of the state with other parties.

He has demonstrated his ability and fitness for the office he now fills, and for which he has been nominated for a second term.

CURE FOR HICCUGHS.

Simple Scientific Remedy That Gives Immediate Relief.

An attack of hiccoughs brings its victim less sympathy perhaps than almost any other ailment, the main reason being that, except in very rare cases, it is not attended with fatal results and that in most cases it attacks otherwise healthy persons. Still, it is one of the most annoying and most obstinate of difficulties. While the effort to cure it is being made it generally disappears, yet it resists the most vigorous effort of the will to control its vagaries.

A hiccough is a quick, involuntary, inspiratory movement of the diaphragm, brought suddenly to a stop by an involuntary closing of the glottis. The muscles that control these two portions of the human anatomy are incessant workers. They wait on every breath without being guided by the will and even work while we sleep. While they do their duty life passes, tranquil, calm and peaceful, but if from any cause a disturbing element enters into their balliwick they rebel, are beyond the control of the will and, having no guide, as it were, run away, and, like any runaway, have no care for the damage done. The effort to remove the disturber is the cause of the hiccough, and the following method of treatment arrests these muscles in their wild escapade, brings them back to their duties, and, like the patient servants they are, they resume their work and life becomes as placid as before.

First, expel all the air from your lungs very, very quickly. The portion of the body they attend to is, as it were, collapsed, and now commences the next and concluding part of the cure. Second, commence to fill your lungs with air, but do so very slowly, and steadily. Pucker your mouth, and if possible leave an opening of your lips no larger than a pin, and through this inhale the air. Fill your lungs, raise your arms and throw out your chest, and when you are full these muscles resume their regular duties and the hiccoughs are gone.—Brooklyn Eagle.

There is no doubt that when the needs of the department require a larger force than a Republican legislature will grant it, as they have that of the mine inspector.

MANY LABOR LAWS

Placed on Statute Books by Republican General Assemblies.

SOME VERY IMPORTANT MEASURES

Which Contribute to the Betterment of the Condition of Those Who Toil—Nearly All the Modern Labor Legislation Now on the Statute Books of Indiana Placed There Since 1895.

During the past decade of Republican control in the General Assembly nearly all the modern labor legislation now on the statute books of Indiana has been enacted. During the General Assembly of 1895, when for the first time in many years the Republican party assumed responsibility for legislation in Indiana, the law compelling streetcar companies to equip their cars with vestibules for the protection of employees was enacted. This was only a starter.

In 1897 the factory inspection and child labor laws, with its companion, the one creating the Labor Commission, received the signature of Governor James A. Mount. These two measures have almost revolutionized conditions in factories, the former looking after the health, comfort and bodily welfare of employees, the banishment of children under fourteen from factories and mercantile establishments, shortening the hours of labor for them, preventing the working of women at night, and in numerous other ways looking after their welfare. The labor commissioners, who might be styled a "let us get-together and talk it over committee," have accomplished a great deal, much more than the general public gives them credit for. The first of these measures was introduced at the request of the Indiana Federation of Labor. The other, as soon as its provisions were understood, received its hearty support.

In 1899 the legislature amended and strengthened both the factory inspection and labor commission laws; doubled the force of the former and made the latter more serviceable; increased the salary of both commissioners and the chief inspector; passed a weekly wage law, the fire-escape law, and one concerning pleadings and proof in action for damages, which removed the burden of proof from the plaintiff and placed it on the defendant. These measures met the hearty approval of the Indiana Federation of Labor and were considered their measures.

In 1901 there were passed a law concerning a minimum rate of wages on public works of state, counties, cities and towns; an act regulating the handling of explosives in mines; one concerning the issuance of checks, tickets, tokens or other devices given in payment for the assignment or transfer of wages, making them payable on demand; the bake-shop law; one protecting laborers who work on public streets, alleys, sewers and other public improvements, by compelling the contractor to give bond for the payment of wages; and one compelling convict made goods to be plainly labeled "Convict Made."

This same year the railroad men had an act passed compelling railroads to maintain lights at street and railroad crossings, in towns, and one providing for signal lights on switches. Both of these were for the better protection of trainmen and were supported by their committee. At this session of the legislature the forces of both the mine inspector and factory inspector were again increased and the mine inspector's salary increased to $1,800 per annum.

In 1903 there were passed the boiler inspection law, the temporary floor law, and one compelling the inspection of naphtha and gasoline launches on inland lakes and rivers, by a competent mechanic. All of these laws were not introduced at the request of the Federation of Labor, but many of them were; however, they all received their hearty support and were recognized as being to the interest of the workmen. At this session the railroad men received a law which forbade their employment for more than sixteen hours consecutively, thus giving them eight hours' rest out of twenty-four. They also secured the passage of an act compelling all railroads within the state to equip their cars with automatic couplers, continuous brakes and hand-holds.

Here are eighteen distinct acts passed at the request of organized labor and the amendment and strengthening of some of them at each session of the legislature.

Not only has the Republican party passed these laws, but in the appointment to positions created by them they have invariably gone to the ranks of organized labor for persons to fill them. When the factory inspector and labor commissioner were to be appointed, Governor Mount gave them to men who had long been identified with organized labor, Mr. McCormack and Mr. McAbee, either of whom had had twenty-five years' experience in the active ranks of organized labor, and Governor Durbin only a short time ago reappointed these gentlemen. Mr. McAbee, in his appointment of his deputies, followed the precedent established by Governor Mount by taking them from the ranks of practical mechanics, and all of them with one exception were members of organized labor. The exception was when he needed a man whose trade, that of boiler tender, has never been organized.

The factory inspector's force has been increased from two to seven persons, and there is no doubt that when the needs of the department require a larger force than a Republican legislature will grant it, as they have that of the mine inspector.

The facts are that never have the requests of organized labor been heeded to the same extent as they have been by the last four or five Republican general assemblies. Not every measure backed by the Federation of Labor has become a law, but if it did not it was because of an honest difference of opinion as to the value to workmen and the general public.

"I want to ask you something, Grace," said the beautiful heiress.

"What is it, Duckie?" the duke inquired.

"Would you object if I should request the minister to omit the word 'obey' from the service when we are married?"

"Certainly not. He can just make it 'love, honor and supply.'"—Chicago Record-Herald.

To Get Rid of Rats.
After all other remedies fail, there still remains a way of getting rid of rats, and that is by depriving them of water. They can live for a very long time without food and when hard pressed will not hesitate to eat each other, but no rat can go twenty-four hours without drink. Therefore if every possible means of obtaining water is taken from the rats they will desert the vicinity.

Very Pathetic.
"What can be more pathetic," said the sentimental woman, "than a man who has loved and lost?"

"Well," replied the man of experience, "a fellow who has bet on a sure thing and lost cuts quite a figure in the pathetic line."—Chicago Record-Herald.

TESTIMONIAL.

MESSRS. WATSON & CO., Indianapolis, Ind., Agents. March 1, 1904.
Dear Sirs:—Replying to your query as to whether I am pleased with the F. P. lighting system which you installed for me fifteen months ago, I will say that it has never given me one minute's trouble nor one dollar's expense. It gives the best light I ever saw for interior use. The actinic rays are of such a character as to make it very desirable when the perfectly natural colors of objects are to be distinguished without confusion.

As to cost of maintenance, I think my experience, based upon close observation, will warrant the statement that it is under $80 per annum, and our store is open every day in the year until 11 o'clock p. m., except on Sunday, one hour less. Under the same condition, and with the most approved facilities for the distribution of light, our bills for illuminating gas were about $200 per year, and for electric light (arcs) about $400 to $420 per annum, and at no time have we had more than one-half the light we now have.

I am particularly pleased with the light, and the fact that it is so economical makes it the more desirable.

As you can readily figure, I paid for my apparatus and cost of light in about four or five months. Yours truly,
R. I. EADS.

Evansville, Ind., June 7.—August 1.—The senior Knocke migrated to America from Germany many years ago, bringing with him his family, which also included his son Valentine, two years old. The senior Knocke took out naturalization papers and became a full-fledged citizen; a precaution neglected by Valentine, who always disclaimed allegiance to the fatherland. Valentine, who is thirty-two years old, served in the Spanish-American war and afterward in the Philippines, and he is now engaged in mining in Colorado. Recently the senior Knocke was notified by the German authorities that the son was still a German subject, and he was ordered to return for military service. No attention will be paid to the order, but Valentine will place himself on record as a naturalized citizen of America.

THE FIGHT RENEWED

Berne People Admit No Compromise in Saloon Case.

Portland, Ind., June 7.—The anti-saloon fight at Berne, which caused a reign of terror in that little Swiss town for several months, resulting in dynamiting the home of Fred Rohrer, editor of the Berne Witness, the temperance leader, and in driving four saloons out of business, has been renewed. Undeterred by the assaults upon himself and family, Editor Rohrer has filed five fresh remonstrances against as many applicants to retail intoxicants. These remonstrances bear a large majority of the legal voters of the township and town. Editor Rohrer will continue the fight indefinitely, having abundant means at his command, as the temperance folks, who are wealthy, say they will never every dollar that the brewers want to risk in the fight. The cases will be in evidence before the county commissioners tomorrow.

Appealed to Higher Court.

Crawfordsville, Ind., June 7.—The original complaint in the suit by Mrs. June Gregg against Mrs. Sarah M. Gregg, mother-in-law, for alienating the affections of plaintiff's husband, in which the jury returned a verdict for $3,000, has been amended on plaintiff's petition by the allegation that her husband loved her at time of marriage. The defense sought a new trial on the ground that this allegation was omitted, and on the court's overruling the motion to file affidavits, appealed to the appellate court.

Sudden Death Arouses Suspicion.

Muncie, Ind., June 7.—The death of Artie Monks, a seventeen-year-old girl in Muncie, led to the arrest of Sol A. Lee, a motorman employed by the Union Traction company. The circumstances surrounding the girl's death indicate suicide or murder, and Lee will be held until it is ascertained whether he was implicated in the matter. The girl and Lee were sweethearts.

Miners Seeking Other Employment.

Triumph of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering with injuries entail. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

Party leaders are much mystified over a conference held here yesterday afternoon by Congressman Hemenway, Congressman Watson, Chairman Goodrich, H. C. Starr of Richmond, and United States District Attorney Keating at the latter's office in the federal building. These men are the pillars of what is known as the Fairbanks organization, and that they should have held a secret conference at this time has excited much speculation, as it is generally believed they were discussing the Fairbanks vice presidential boom and what course should be pursued by the Indiana delegation. As all of them know how to keep their own counsel it is not certain just what was done. Mr. Hemenway was frank enough to state that he does not want Senator Fairbanks to accept and that other strong friends of the senator are of the same opinion. But whether or not they went to him with such a statement is not known.
